Subject: residential well water sampling and analysis statement

Hi Jon, Phil and David,

Sorry about the been late, here is the statement:

" As of 1645 EST, September 8, 2017, there is not yet a mission assignment from FEMA regarding the task of residential well water sampling and analysis. EPA is actively working with multiple agencies to plan an approach for this task.

If FEMA issues a mission assignment for residential well water sampling and analysis, it is likely to be under ESF #8. A possible work flow could be the following: HHS/CDC will be tasked by FEMA to support TCEQ to complete this task. It is possible that HHS/CDC could subtask EPA to assist in completing the task.

If FEMA issues a mission assignment for residential well water sampling and analysis under ESF #10, a possible work flow could be the following: EPA could be tasked by FEMA to support TCEQ to complete this task.

Please be advised, that there could be other work flow streams that have not been identified in this narrative."

Gary Chen
